Victoria Woman Island Highway Accident Victim

MISS PATRICIA WALSH
... dies from injuries

Miss Patricia Walsh, 29 years, 59 Cook Street, died in Chemainus Hospital at 2.30 this morning from injuries received when a car in which she was driving with another local girl and two Victoria doctors, skidded off the road on Solly's Hill, half way between Duncan and Chemainus at 9.15 Friday night.

The three others in the car were only slightly injured. They were Miss Patricia Byrom, 32, Markborough Street Dr. William O'Hara, Jubilee Hospital, and Dr. William Arber, St. Joseph's Hospital. They were treated for cuts, bruises and shock, and returned to Victoria this morning.

Miss Walsh, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walsh, was a stenographer in the X-ray department of St. Joseph's Hospital. Her father is managing director of Cathart's Ltd., Fort Street shoe store.

She was active in social circles and during the war served in a civilian capacity in the meteorological department of Western Air Command, R.C.A.F. here and in Vancouver.

Her death will be investigated at an inquest to be held at Chemainus early next week. Police investigation of the accident is being made by Constable T. J. Kelly of the Chemainus Detachment of the B.C. Police.

OUT FOR HUNTING TRIP
Constable Kelly reported from Duncan this morning that the car in which the four were riding was a late model coupé with jumper seats. It was owned by Miss Byrom and was being driven by Dr. O'Hara, the report stated.

Miss Walsh was sitting on a jumper seat immediately behind the driver. Dr. Arber was in the back section of the car with her.

The four were on their way to Cameron Lake on a hunting trip when the accident occurred, police said.

The car was descending the steep Solly's Hill and was turning right onto the Island Highway at the junction of Bell-McKinnon Road when it skidded off the left of the road. The car did not turn over but came to rest at a sharp angle against a tree stump.

The stump, according to the police, crushed in the top of the car on Miss Walsh.

A northbound Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus arrived at the scene shortly after the accident and Miss Walsh was taken aboard with Dr. Arber. En route to Chemainus the injured girl was transferred to an ambulance.

Miss Byrom and Dr. O'Hara were taken to hospital by taxi. They, with Dr. Arber, returned to Victoria by taxi early this morning.

Constable Kelly said the pavement where the car left the road was wet. The traveled portion of the road was clear of snow, he said.

Miss Byrom is a stenographer employed at the Parliament Buildings. The two doctors are internes at the two local hospitals.

Truman Returns To U.S. Capital For Fight On Coal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman returned by plane from his Florida vacation this afternoon and told newspapermen he expected to hold conferences during the week-end on the coal situation.

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, who accompanied the President, had no comment on the coal crisis.

The President's return came amid drastic government moves to ease the tightening soft coal shortages in the wake of the walkout of John L. Lewis' bituminous miners.

One move, it was reported, may be to use the Big and Little Inch pipelines, wartime conveyors of oil, to carry natural gas from Texas to the east for emergency fuel.

A bright dimout was ordered to halt unnecessary use of electricity—even Christmas tree lighting—in 21 states and the District of Columbia as attorneys for the Department of Justice and the United Mine Workers prepared their arguments for the contempt of court proceedings Monday which may put Lewis in jail.

LEWIS STILL SILENT

The government contends Lewis is in contempt of Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, who ordered him to call off his contract "termination" which led 400,000 workers to leave the 3,300 government-held mines. Lewis has said nothing since the injunction was issued Monday.

The Civilian Production Administration issued, effective next Monday, a dimout order more far-reaching than those of wartime. Administrator John D. Small said that because of greater industrial consumption now "the situation confronting the American people today is much more serious than that brought about by the coal strike last spring."

He added that electric utilities have an average 60-day coal supply, gas utilities "considerably less," and many in both categories already are low on fuel.

Effective at 6 p.m., E.S.T., Monday, the order bans use of electricity for lighting store windows or advertising signs and for air conditioning and refrigeration except where essential.

NO CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

It requires a 25 per cent cut in electricity used for street lighting, buildings, except homes, and for running passenger elevators and escalators. All Christmas lighting displays are out.

The government has frozen all coal stocks outside the hands of consumers. The navy also ordered its district commandants to sell any excess coal to essential consumers and give use of spare power generators.

B.C. Unaffected Unless Alberta Shipments Diverted Eastwards

OTTAWA (CP)—Anxiety, tinged with hope the strike would not be prolonged, was the Canadian reaction today to the continued walkout of United States soft coal miners demanding higher wages. While supplies for the moment, and possibly for some weeks were adequate, coal men said it was the future of which they were apprehensive.

On the west coast, fuel officials said the strike will not affect British Columbia unless shipments from Alberta have to be diverted to the east.

LIMIT DELIVERIES

First official word to preserve the nation's coal came Thursday from Ottawa when Coal Controller E. J. Brunning ruled that commercial dock operators must not deliver more than a day's supply to industrial consumers with stockpiles of more than 20 days' supplies.

In the Maritimes, officials of the Dominion Coal Company, the largest coal-distributing company in eastern Canada, said the U.S. strike would have little effect in the three provinces. Bunkering fuel might possibly dwindle but even here stockpiles seem adequate.

French Vote Sunday To Decide If Thorez To Be New Premier

PARIS (AP)—The French people will vote tomorrow in the first step toward the election of parliament's second house, in a ballot which may decide whether the Communists will head the first government of the Fourth Republic.

The voters will choose 84,000 members of electoral colleges to convene Dec. 8 in France's various cantons to elect 200 of the 315 members of the Council of the Republic. The council is the second house of parliament which will join with the National Assembly in January to elect the President of the Fourth Republic.

The importance of tomorrow's balloting far exceeds the importance of the council itself, which has very little power. It cannot enact legislation. It can only propose laws to the National Assembly elected Nov. 10, and only make recommendations on laws passed by the Assembly.

France is confronted, however, with the fact that the Communists are the largest single party in the National Assembly and by virtue of this ballot box triumph are claiming the premiership for Communist leader Maurice Thorez.

Leaders of the centrist Mouvement Republicain Populaire admit their chances of blocking this Communist bid for power will be far more difficult if the Communists emerge with the largest popular vote.

M.R.P. chiefs have proclaimed publicly that the future of the new government will be determined by tomorrow's vote, and the Communists have also pleaded with the country to confirm its Nov. 10 victory by heavy support in the balloting.

First Peacetime Passenger Ship Here

Brief minutes after the Australian liner Wanganella tied up at Ogden Point docks Friday night, longshoremen, and customs, immigration and company officials climbed aboard. Most of the 400 passengers lined her rails to get a glimpse of Canadian soil. Soon they were ashore, taking taxis to inspect downtown Victoria. Fruit from Honolulu and wool from Australia made up the bulk of the Wanganella's cargo for here. (See story on Page 7.)

Lewis' union and declared "the existence of organized labor is certainly in danger—grave danger."

Baby's Cry Saves Family From Gas Asphyxiation

A baby's cry saved two families of seven from being asphyxiated when a leaking gas main filled their house at 378 Burnside Road with fumes while they slept at an early hour this morning.

The near tragedy occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kellow. In the house in addition to them were their son, a daughter, Mrs. J. Holding, her husband, and their two children, Kenny, two years, and Marilyn, six months.

It was Kenny's cries which awoke his mother and her father at about 5.30. Mrs. Holding arose from bed and tucked the bed clothes around the little boy, thinking that he was crying from cold. Then the baby, Marilyn, started to cry in her crib, and it was then that Mrs. Holding noticed a smell of gas. She picked the baby up and the infant suddenly slumped unconsciously in her arms.

Then she heard her father shout from his upstairs room: "Jessie!" She then heard a thud on the floor and on investigating found him sprawled beside his bed unconscious.

Saanich Police Sgt. Eric Elwell was called to the house and rushed Mr. Kellow to St. Joseph's Hospital. Others in the family had started for the hospital with the unconscious baby before he arrived. En route to the hospital the baby revived.

Mr. Kellow is still in hospital. Sgt. Elwell said the gas fumes came in waves through the house from a surface drain in the basement. The gas had been leaking from a main at a point approximately a block from the house. The gas had seeped along the main under the ground and had escaped through the surface drain.

Even the family pets, an English setter and a cat, were rendered unconscious by the fumes. They had been in the basement and were later revived. All members of the families were still suffering at a later hour this morning from effects of the gassing but were not in danger.

MEIRINGEN, Switzerland (AP)—Sixty members of a rescue contingent of Alpinists reached the scene of the crash of a United States army C-53 transport high in the Swiss Alps today after plunging through heavy snowdrifts across a treacherous glacier.

Preparations were begun to bring the 11 marooned Americans down from the 8,000-foot glacial bowl.

Brig-Gen. Ralph Tate, deputy commander of the U.S. Forces in Austria, said the passengers most seriously sick or injured would be the first to be brought down. "We don't know how many are injured, or how seriously, but in any event we can't expect any of them down here (in the valley) before tomorrow," Gen. Tate said.

The C-53, on a trip from Munich to Pisa, crash-landed last Tuesday.

The plane wreck is said to be perched on an incline sloping at 30 degrees at an altitude of between 10,000 and 11,000 feet. Interrupted radio signals from the crew indicated the plane still was in one piece. This led to the conclusion most of the passengers have found shelter in the plane's cabin.

British and U.S. planes found the wrecked aircraft near the base of Strahlegg Peak, in the climax to a search by some 100 aircraft from six countries.

Shuttling transports dropped food, medicine and rescue equipment. The rescue squad reached Interlaken, 15 miles west of here, by special train from Udine, Italy, via Milan, Friday night.

Terms As Basis In Considering Unified System

Despite the objections of Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman, the Greater Victoria Transportation committee this morning decided to enter into negotiations immediately with the B.C. Electric Railway Company for the franchise for the unified transportation system. The terms of the bid submitted by the company will be used as the basis of the negotiations.

Ald. Diggon recommended to the committee that no favorable consideration be given to the bid of the B.C.E.R., which he contended was not on the specifications set out by the committee. (See story, page 6.)

Councillor R. A. B. Wootton, Oak Bay representative, criticized Ald. Diggon's opposition to the bid, and said that no public comments should have been made on the terms by any member of the committee until they had been considered by a private meeting.

He said that he had received little opportunity to study the proposed franchise, and wished to reserve his observations because he did not wish to get the committee further disorganized on the matter.

Councillor Wootton said he considered W. C. Mainwaring's letter, to which Ald. Diggon took strong exception, a "most proper letter under the circumstances." He also said that he did not feel that the bid offered by the B.C.E.R. was far off the committee's specifications, and that it would give adequate transportation to the area.

In criticizing Ald. Diggon, Councillor Wootton said his understanding had been that the bids would be received in public, but considered in committee meeting, together with company officials.

He moved that the committee enter into immediate negotiations with the B.C.E.R. to get some agreement satisfactory to the committee.

SAANICH REEVE SECONDS

Reeve A. G. Lambrick of Saanich, seconded the motion, because he said that he felt some clarification was necessary on the powers now held by the tendering company which would require investigation with provincial authorities.

Although Friday noon Reeve Lambrick promised a report on Saanich negotiations with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, which has proposed to reopen its agreement with that municipality to bring it in line with the B.C.E.R. bid, he made no mention of his committee's actions at a meeting Friday evening.

Reeve Thomas Hadfield of Esquimalt, the remaining committee member present, agreed with the motion because he said he felt there was ample room, within the bid submitted, for negotiations between the committee and the B.C.E.R.

"We are not in a position to refuse this tender and go into public ownership," he said. Ald. Diggon said that he would contact B.C.E.R. officials and call the first meeting to open negotiations at an early date.

In a letter to the committee, A. J. Patton, city solicitor, said that in his opinion the city would gain nothing from the terms proposed by the B.C.E.R., but they would be disadvantageous to the city's future.

He doubted if the company did hold a perpetual franchise, as claimed, but contended that if it did, the city was getting as good a service now as the company proposes under the new agreement, and the company might as well carry on.

Mother Facing Charge Of Murder In Court, Pale And Bandaged

Mrs. Elizabeth Yuen, 34 years, appearing deathly pale and supported by a police matron, remained motionless as two charges of murder were read against her before Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court today, in connection with the deaths Thursday of her twin year-and-a-half-old daughters, Betty Ann and Nancy Lee.

She was remanded until next Friday when Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison said he expected her preliminary hearing on the charges would be completed.

Mrs. Yuen, Russian-Canadian whose Chinese husband died eight months ago, was represented by J. B. Clearihue K.C.

Dressed in a light blue top coat with a white and green scarf hiding bandages on her neck where she suffered cuts believed to have been self-inflicted, Mrs. Yuen was assisted into the prisoner's box by Police Matron Alice Pye. She had to be supported the whole time and during reading of the charges by William Ostler, clerk of the court, looked straight ahead, her face expressionless.

Mrs. Yuen was booked on the murder charge at the police jail at 1.45 Friday afternoon on being brought there from Jubilee Hospital. She was confined in hospital Thursday evening when she was found with the two babies lying across a double bed in a room in which they lived at 1922 Blanshard Street, with slashes on their throats. The babies were pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

An inquest in the deaths will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor on Tuesday morning next at 10.

Jury Finds Brentwood Youth Guilty Of Attempted Murder

Guilty of attempted murder was the verdict rendered by an Assize Court jury which deliberated for two hours and 15 minutes before reaching a decision in the case of John Bertelsen, 17-year-old Brentwood youth, who was accused of shooting Constable Stanley Cornish here July 20.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane will sentence the accused on Monday.

The pale youth, who testified in court that he was drunk and did not remember shooting the police officer, displayed no signs of emotions when the jury announced its decision to a court almost devoid of spectators.

The Crown, which was represented by R. A. Wootton, contended that Bertelsen deliberately shot at the police officer when the latter attempted to arrest him in connection with a stolen car on Hillside Avenue.

Counsel for the defence, J. G. Rutman, argued that the youth was drunk on the night in question and had fired the gun accidentally when the police officer made a move to arrest him.

Pamphlet Basis Of Quebec Drive Against Jehovah's Witnesses

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis announced plan to bring Witnesses of Jehovah into court on conspiracy charges has had its first result with the arrest of four of the sect members in Sherbrooke on charges of distributing pamphlets of a seditious nature.

It was learned authoritatively that conspiracy charges are being directed specifically at members of the sect distributing a pamphlet entitled, "The Burning Hate of Quebec" ("La Haine Ardeur du Quebec"), which is considered by the Attorney-General's Department to be a seditious publication.

In Toronto, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society said distribution of the pamphlet began Nov. 15 on a countrywide scale and that the first English-language printing comprised 1,000,000 copies. It added the publication is being delivered house to house by "personal visits of Jehovah's Witnesses."

TWO PARAGRAPHS

The plan of action devised by Mr. Duplessis, who also is Attorney-General of Quebec, is understood to be based on two paragraphs of article 133 of the Criminal Code. There it is set forth that seditious libel is a libel expressive of seditious intent, and seditious conspiracy is an agreement between two or more persons to carry into execution a seditious intent.

The four sect members, whose arrest in Sherbrooke by provincial police Thursday night is believed to have touched off the campaign foreshadowed by Mr. Duplessis, were arraigned Friday before Magistrate J. H. Lemay. Preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 29 and the defendants freed on $900 property bail.

Provincial police were reported to have begun a general drive to round up persons distributing the "burning hate" pamphlet, which decries the action the at-thorities have taken against the sect in the province. The English version asserts that "Quebec's burning hate for God and Christ is the shame of all Canada."

In recorder's court here Friday four members of the sect came in for a tongue-lashing from Recorder Jean Mercier who sentenced the members—three men and a woman—to maximum fines for disturbing the peace and illegally distributing pamphlets.

Recorder Mercier said the teachings of the sect were "vile and vicious, inciting to revolution against the state and the church." The pamphlets they distributed were "insulting, malicious, libelous, false and illegal," and the people who circulated them were "fanatics... deliberately, audaciously and systematically breaking the law."

One extract of the sect's writings that has aroused ire in Quebec is that demanding removal of a crucifix from the throne in the Legislative Council, Quebec's Upper House.

In Montreal some 800 sect members are awaiting trial on charges of distributing pamphlets and circulars without a permit. Their cases are held up pending a test case which will establish the validity or otherwise of the city ordinance requiring a permit before literature can be distributed.

Montreal followers of the sect, commenting on the promised drive of the Quebec Attorney-General's Department, said the province's action is not in accordance with Canada's Freedom of Worship Act. They said the Witnesses follow simply what the Bible says and can see nothing wrong in that.

Winnipeg Re-elects Mayor For 3rd Term

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mayor Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg was returned to office for the third time Friday, polling the largest number of votes ever given a single mayoralty candidate. Mr. Coulter also is president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors.

Unofficial figures give Mr. Coulter who ran on a Civic Election Committee ticket, 51,956 votes against 12,788 for his opponent, A. M. Israel, C.C.F. candidate.

George Sharpe, a C.E.C. candidate in ward one, running for alderman for the first time, was elected on the first count of ballots with 10,247 votes.

Campbell Haig, C.E.C. candidate for school trustee in Ward One and Peter Taraska, C.E.C., in Ward 3, were also elected on the first count.

Due to the proportional representation system in Winnipeg, it is not expected a complete result will be available before Monday.

Voters approved the daylight saving referendum by a vote of 46,311 against 20,187. A by-law for a $500,000 recreation program was approved by 14,391 votes against 7,389.

However, another money by-law for a $100,000 memorial park and exhibition, went down to defeat although it received a majority vote. A 60 per cent vote was required to carry the by-law and there were 11,131 votes for and 10,299 against.

Radio Performers Postpone Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike of radio performers set for midnight tomorrow if a new contract was not signed before then was postponed early today by leaders of the American Federation of Radio Artists pending outcome of further negotiations with the four major networks.

The strike, which would remove from the air such featured acts as Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, had been voted previously by federation members in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

But leaders of the union and the networks—the National Broadcasting Company, the Columbia Broadcasting System, the Mutual Broadcasting system and the American Broadcasting Company—decided to resume talks tomorrow and to announce a definite decision Monday on terms of a contract which is to replace the one which expired Oct. 31.

Chief issue is a demand that the networks refrain from supplying programs to local independent affiliated stations which have not signed a contract with the federation.

Alberta Rejects Ottawa Proposals

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier E. C. Manning announced Friday that Alberta will not accept the latest federal government terms for a Dominion-Provincial tax agreement.

In a prepared statement, the Premier said the proposals were not acceptable "for good and proper reasons" and added that Alberta will do its full share to facilitate preparation of an alternative agreement satisfactory to the province.

The governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick have signed agreement. Ontario and Quebec have stated they would not consider the agreement on the Dominion's present terms.

Premier Hart will leave Victoria tomorrow for Ottawa to discuss agreement proposals.

Mr. Manning noted that those provinces, including Alberta, which have turned down or have indicated an unwillingness to accept the federal offer, represent 80 per cent of the Canadian people.

THE COMFORT OF SELF-DELUSION

★ The best advice is often more than we can bear. It takes courage to face the impact of truth, and firm resolution to form new habits to fit the facts.

Your doctor is sometimes confronted with the stern necessity of advising restrictions in your usual routine. Your favorite dessert or that comforting cigar may be denied you. There is a strong temptation to treat such advice lightly, to feel you know your needs better than your doctor.

Such self-delusion may be comforting, but it defeats the very ends you seek. Carefully follow your doctor's advice.

Your prescriptions have prompt, expert attention at our store.

To Our Gas Customers:

We fully realize many gas users suffered a great deal of inconvenience and discomfort because of the shortage experienced last Wednesday and Thursday.

We very much appreciate the co-operation tendered and acknowledge with thanks the understanding and forbearance exercised during that difficult period.

Particularly do we wish to thank our larger commercial consumers who, when apprised of the situation, immediately cut their gas consumption to the absolute minimum, thus making it possible to assure a continuing supply of gas to hospitals and other vital institutions.

As previously explained, an additional gas manufacturing unit, of large capacity, is now in the course of erection and, but for uncontrollable delays in the delivery of materials, would have been in full operation more than two months ago.

Failure Would Be India's Own Fault

MERUT, India (CP)—Addressing the Indian National Congress today, J. O. Kripalani, Congress president, told delegates Indian freedom was "in sight."

"In a short time we shall be assembling to form a new constitution for India," he said.
"Freedom is in sight. The British can no longer deny it to us whatever their intention. If today we miss our goal the fault will be ours."

Establishment of Pakistan as a separate state for Moslem areas in India would be "a terrible solution" for India's communal problems, he added. It would be detrimental in the long run to Moslems as well as Hindu interests but a logical consequence of communalism.

Speaking on communal riots in Bengal and Bihar, he declared that if the present "orgies" continued the Moslem League, and even the Congress, might lose control of its followers.

"If that happens then India will be divided into two armed camps of communal fanatics, the British will stand guard over them both with their bayonets and the day of India's freedom will be indefinitely postponed."

Charges Dismissed
In 1944 Sedition Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The always turbulent, sometimes riotous mass sedition case of 1944 was dismissed Friday with a finding that to try it again
"would be a travesty of justice."

With those words, Chief Justice Bolitha Laws granted defence motions to dismiss the indictment and prevent a retrial of the 26 defendants.

The first trial was declared a mistrial shortly after the death of presiding Judge Edward C.
Elcher in November, 1944. The defendants included such figures as Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network," and William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts.

They had stood accused, in the longest (eight months) case of its kind in United States history, of conspiring to interfere with the draft; to undermine the morale of the armed forces and to set up a Nazi regime in the United States.

DUNCAN—Mayor G. Savage, with Alderman Walter Hudson, W. Evans and H. Marsh, a committee from the City Council, and O. T. Smythe and Canon T.
M. Hughes from the Cowichan
Branch of the Canadian Legion,

More data will have to be obtained as to cost of moving same, and of raising the memorial to allow of another base on which to inscribe the names of those giving their lives in World War 2.

This base would raise the cross about 14 inches and it is estimated 75 names will be added.
The Canadian Legion were asked to submit a list of these. The Monumental Works in Vancouver will be contacted and it is expected to have a man from

Hoard Of Diamonds Found By U.S. Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of cut diamonds — probably the greatest assortment ever assembled in modern times — is in the hoard which United States occupation forces uncovered in Japan.

Government officials said today the Japanese government collected the huge treasure from the Japanese people as a deperate war-financing measure.
Apparently the intention was to sell the gems for foreign exchange and purchase munitions and raw materials.

A War Department announcement said the gems are valued at between $20,000,000 and $25-000,000. But experts with knowledge of the hoard said the army undoubtedly was speaking conservatively and of the New York wholesale price. In settings and in the possession of individuals, they said, the value would be far greater.

U.S. Navy Plans To Meet A Bombs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of United States naval operations, has announced: "We already know the direction which naval design will take to combat" atomic bombs.

In an address before the Baltimore Junior Association of Commerce, Admiral Nimitz said the navy neither ignores nor under-estimates the bomb, but that the bomb has not made the navy obsolete.

"Although it is too early for us to evaluate the results of the tests which have been conducted,
we already know the direction which naval design will take to combat it," he said.

13 Cairo Police, 20 Others Injured

CAIRO (CP)—Thirteen policemen and more than 20 students were injured today in a second clash within a few hours between the police and the student body of Fuad I University.

Nine hand grenades and one incendiary bomb were thrown in the riot.

Earlier it was reported about 30 students had been injured, three seriously, in an explosion of three smoke or tear gas grenades in suburban Giza.

The students were attempting to march into Cairo to demonstrate for evacuation of British troops and unity of the Nile Valley.

Police said between 3,000 and 4,000 students were involved.

About 5,000 police roped off the troubled area. The public prosecutor announced an investigation and forbade publication of the news of the rioting in Egyptian newspapers.

Siamese Twins Born; One Dies

ROME (AP)—A dispatch from Florence said today that Mrs.
Evelina Chiara Desli, 42, gave birth Friday to twin girls whose bodies were joined at the abdomen and lower thorax.

One of the girls died soon after birth, but the other—separated from her sister by surgery—remained alive and thriving, the dispatch added.

The two girls, weighing 12 pounds, 5 ounces, together, had but one umbilical cord and the operation to separate them involved cutting the pericardium, the membranous sac enclosing the heart which they also had in common.

TRANSPORTATION FRANCHISE

FOR MANY YEARS THE PEOPLE OF Greater Victoria have demanded a modern transportation system. They have wearied of the antiquated mode of travel which met requirements at the beginning of the century and, until very recently, they have been annoyed and inconvenienced through the lack of unity arising from competing media. For this and numerous other reasons they will have noted with considerable satisfaction that in the joint offer presented yesterday by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company and the Vancouver Island Coach Lines may be found the solution to a problem of long standing.

Regardless of whether the proposal will furnish a solvent to divergent points of view, and there are many, the offer in itself should provide a substantial basis for discussion between the elected representatives of the people and the officers of the two companies involved. And it is not necessary to point out that in the consummation of negotiations of so complex a character much technical and other detail obviously will not be readily assimilable by the average man on the street. At the same time, those who have digested the summary of the offer published in the news columns of this newspaper yesterday will have obtained a fairly good idea of the amount of thought which has entered into its compilation.

Two outstanding factors in which the general public is especially interested are those relating to the suggested fare structure and the difference in the amount suggested for street repairs under the proposed compact and the amount which the municipal transportation committee considered equitable. In the original specifications prepared by the latter, the sum of $650,000 was indicated as a suitable payment by the successful bidder to the municipalities for this restitution of road surfaces. The companies which have presented their joint tender for the franchise have offered $250,000 as their contribution to the work. They explain that in submitting this figure and in paying 4 per cent annually of the combined transportation revenues to the city and municipalities, they have gone as far as is economically feasible. In respect of the basic fare structure, by offering a five-cent fare through use of a 25-cent weekly permit, the companies have advanced a proposal which would place Victoria in the position of enjoying one of the lowest tariffs in Canada. Simple arithmetic should convince the average person of the justification for that assertion. After purchasing the permit, the individual need deposit only five cents in the fare box for each journey. If he or she boarded a bus only four times a day—and from work—six days in a week, the expenditure would amount to $1.45 and the rate would become six cents a ride. By the same token, of course, additional trips would automatically reduce the rate.

The voluminous nature of the documents made public yesterday renders impossible a full discussion of the details in the space at our disposal. But we feel sure we are voicing the sentiments of the public of this community when we enjoin the Greater Victoria Transportation committee to give this matter its earnest consideration without delay. None wants precipitate action; but all will hope that agreement is not retarded. Opportunity exists to submit the franchise to the electors early in December for ratification. Failure on the part of the committee to complete the necessary formalities within the period legally specified would mean a further indefinite postponement of the correction of a condition which is already hoary with age.

STARVATION IN GERMANY

NEW YORK'S FORMER MAYOR LA Guardia, as chairman of the UNRRA, has made a most eloquent appeal to the United Nations to "carry on" the work of that expiring organization. He argues that $400,000,000 is needed for food supplies in Europe alone. The United States government has put its foot down on further international relief on the grounds that it has been contributing 72 per cent of such relief while Russia has contributed nothing. Most of this assistance has been distributed to countries such as Yugoslavia and Poland, both under Russian control.

At Potsdam it was agreed that Germany was to be treated as an economic unit. For months the Russians have blocked every effort of the Allied Military Control to carry out the agreement. Britain and the United States finally went ahead on their own and, at length, Mr. Molotov has admitted that Germany should be treated as one economic unit. Meantime, the Russian-controlled area, which formerly mainly supplied the rest of Germany with its agricultural products in exchange for industrial goods, has gone to wrack and ruin in order to establish the collectivization of farming under Soviet control. This has been the principal cause of the present terrible crisis in the British zone. In addition to the thousands of refugees driven out of the Russian area by the methods of farm collectivization.

The farming areas have been "given" to the peasants, their livestock and machinery confiscated so that they cannot farm, while machinery and seed are supplied only to the collectives. Labor is repaid with food. It is almost a case of conversion to Communism or starvation. There is not sufficient food to send to the British zone in payment for, say, coal from the Ruhr, so that the miners have not enough food to give them the strength to dig coal. Thus they, too, starve.

Internationally, be it noted, relief has been handled on the ethical basis as opposed to the political objectives. The question is how to handle the situation on the basis of humanity.

VIOLATING WOODMEN'S ETHICS

AMONG THE FINER TRADITIONS OF outdoor life is respect for the property of others. At one time it was a maxim that any hunter, caught at nightfall far from his camp, might use the vacant cabin of an absent woodsman for shelter, might warm himself at the cabin's fire, and take advantage of its comforts—always provided, of course, that he made restitution in the way of dry firewood and supplies he might use. Because this unwritten law was almost universally observed at an earlier date, few cabins were locked.

Now, however, comes word from Nanaimo that hunters privileged to seek game on logging camp property in the Mount Hall region have had that courtesy withdrawn because of thefts which have occurred. Men and youths who have ostensibly entered the limits for deer and birds have apparently removed equipment and supplies from the logging camp there and from another at Mount Brenton. Such action by an unscrupulous minority has injured all who benefited from the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association permits covering hunting in the area. The incidents and the course which the logging company has had to pursue are a sad commentary on the character of some of the successors of an earlier generation which observed a high code of ethics in the woods.

ANOTHER WAR CRIMINAL

AT LONG LAST THE BRITISH AND American authorities in Germany have reversed a former decision and decided that young Alfred Krupp, head of the famous munitions works, should be tried for war crimes. Earlier he had been bypassed when it was thought that his aged and ailing father, Gustav, would not be able to stand trial for reasons of ill-health. It was suggested at that time that Allied authorities hesitated to try an industrialist for fear of the precedent it might set in the event of future wars. Even if that cynical reason were the real one, the Krupps would remain a special case.

The Krupp family of Essen has been arming German soldiers since Napoleonic times and had a hand in instigating three wars. They have incontestably been a part and parcel of the German militarism which twice has brought Europe and most of the world to the brink of disaster. If Albert Speer, the Johnny-come-lately boss of German war production, was judged a fit companion of Goering et al in the first war crimes trial, then by all logic young Krupp has his turn coming—and high time.

RIOTOUS BIHARS

BOTH MOSLEM AND HINDU LEADERS in India have been attempting to stem the disorders arising from the political differences between the two great religious sects. Pandit Nehru, Hindu vice-president of the Executive Council, has been touring the province of Bihar, northeast of Bengal, where more than 1,000 persons were killed in a week's rioting. He informed meetings that "freedom" does not mean liberty for Hindus and Moslems to slit each others' throats; and threatened to bomb the riot spots in Bihar. Coming from Pandit Nehru such a threat is highly significant as he has bitterly criticized the British for bombing the unruly tribes of the northwest frontier, who indulge in looting and feuds as a pastime more than as a vice. The Moslem League, asserting that 30,000 Moslems had been killed by the Hindus in the province of Bihar, has appealed to the Viceroy to restore order; but as this is now a responsibility of the Indian government headed by Nehru, of which the Moslem League is a partner, presumably Viscount Wavell can act only when that government asks for assistance. Otherwise the British would be again accused by one party or the other of "imperialism."

OLD BOOKS

IT IS A GIFT OF WINTER THAT ITS long, raw nights should drive man indoors to the comfort of the glowing hearth and the enriching pleasures of a good book. And there, beside the open fire, he may renew acquaintance with old friends that rise in imagery from the printed page. Too long has he laid aside the companionship of his favorite volumes, seeking the transitory happiness of more garish entertainment. But now, when rain and a biting wind have given strong appeal to the warmth of his room and the inviting repose of his easy chair, he may turn again to those sources of lasting enjoyment, untroubled by fears of approach for his neglect.

The cadence of verse he has often read will hold his fancy, leading him to deeper appreciation. And selections he has missed before will open doors to fuller satisfaction. Familiar characters will touch a chord of memory and narrative will yield its flow of incident for his pleasure. He sits among friends who can turn to his books, gathering to himself riches that have withstood the corrosion of time.

Parents, like nations, must learn that force can't overcome an idea. It takes sense enough to show Junior that his idea is wrong.

'Not In Entire Forgetfulness'

IT IS YEARS since the ivy which clambered toward the red slate roof of Craigdarroch Castle was stripped from its grey stone walls. Yet, even without the green climber, the picturesque old-world architecture appeared to hold a tradition of cloistered study. It seemed a fitting home for young minds immersing themselves in the deep and enriching pool of scholarship and drawing from it nurture for the inquiring spirit. Now the building has lost the pulsing, vibrant life that has been its character since it first housed Victoria College. Changing needs and changing times have left it a mere landmark in the march of progress. But though its lecture halls and common-rooms may no longer quicken to the play of student controversy, to question and to theory in the full gamut of university life, it can never be an entirely lonely place. Memories will cling to the old castle, mellow as the wainscoting in some of its finished rooms.

HERE WAS the spiritual home of Dr. Edward B. Paul, from whose labors in a rich and varied life sprang the first college. Here, at the morning assembly and in the intimate circle of his classics classes, generations of youth came to know the wealth of a truly human and deeply educated man. In these halls he took from the treasure chest of centuries the bright jewels that were the pride of a buried Rome and Greece, lifted their shining facets to the light and opened adolescent eyes to their glories. Through him the ancient blended with the new, giving life the refreshment of a continuing stream of culture. While memory lives and men and women can recall his personality, his understanding and affection, the Scottish baronial pile will hold some lingering attribute of his devotion to the humanities.

SUCH BROAD sympathies will be found, too, in recollection of another revered figure, Percy Elliott, to whom fell the mantle of the Paul tradition. Here, behind an urbane exterior, dwelt a brilliant mind with polished faculties, wide understanding of the subjects academic, and a broad appreciation of the virtues and failings of his fellows.

Sharing their respected memory and honored for their contribution to the flowering of the young college are others of that distinguished company which lent it strength in infancy. Scores will remember the patient courtesy of Prof. John Marr opening the pages of scholarship in classics, of Prof. E. H. Russell pointing the way to higher art in the realms of mathematics—each giving in the latter days of his life some legacy from the accumulated wisdom of this and other civilizations.

AND IN ROOMS where those who came to learn found brisk exercise for ready brains, incidents seem stored, as books in a library, waiting to be opened in recollection and enjoyed again. Explosive laughter haunts the walls between which Walter Gage mixed clear mathematics with the humor of Stephen Leacock and the happy nonsense of life's daily comedy. The reasoned play of conflicting interpretations seems to hang in the air where Prof. E. S. Farr lectured in history and economics. The burnished jewel of English shines again as it was revealed by Miss Jeanette Cann, Miss Ruth Humphrey and Ira Dilworth. The lively spark of Gallic temperament seems latent in the classrooms where Madame Sanderson-Mongin tousled the heads of young men—her "boys"—who saw but little appeal in Moliere.

To this building, old students, having gained distinction, returned to give their measure of service. Here they were joined by men and women of achievement and upheld that high tradition kept in secure trust through passing years by Prof. J. A. Cunningham.

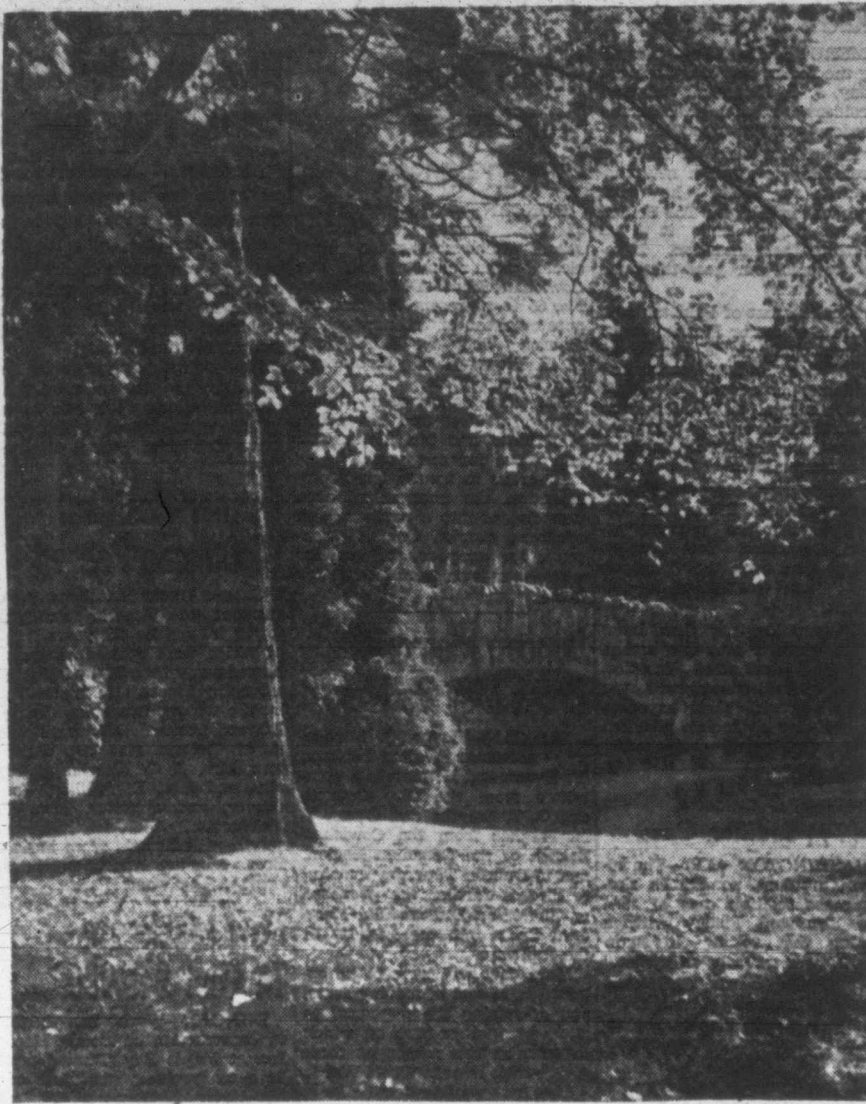

FROM SUCH as these have sprung the history and legend of the college. And though the old shell that was its home has been discarded, it will remain a monument clothed with some essence of the personalities who gave character to and helped mold the spirit of the continuing and living institution.

Nor will the rooms themselves seem wholly empty to those who have called the castle home. Memory will catch, in the brooding silence of the upper story, some fragment of an idea born of deep study in the library. And in the commonrooms, where wit and sophistry had their noisy days, a graduate returning will visualize the carefree bustle of pre-lecture crowds, will hear the strident dogma of those briefly immersed in academic learning, and smell again the comforting pipe smoke through which they once moved.

IN SOCIAL ROOMS, where young feet of earlier generations caught the rhythms of dance music now old and dated, recollection will turn again the pages of youth's sweet scented manuscript, freshening the faded pictures of a college romance. Down in the cellar depths, scars will recall the boisterous afternoons of football triumphs, the bragging of the shower room, high-hearted deepness in victory and the transient dejection of old defeats. The ribald songs of athletes will echo through the vaults, stirring the shades of young bodies, lean and hard, which once made merry there.

Peopled with these memories of students, professors, moods and incidents, Craigdarroch can never be completely deserted, can never be merely a pile of cold grey stone. It has lost the pulse that gave it surging life, but it survives "not in entire forgetfulness and not in utter nakedness" in the hearts of hundreds who were its children.—A.H.S.

Truman's Credo--Has It a Chance?

By Peter Edson from Washington

THERE WAS something almost pathetic about the President's Armistice Day statement, promising and pleading for co-operation with the Republicans. Through a series of strikes that set reconversion back by months.

THIS IS ONLY ONE of the disappointments and frustrations Harry Truman has experienced. The things that have happened to him shouldn't happen to a goat. When he first went to the White House, he made a great point of wanting to work with his old friends in Congress.

When he realized that most of the members of Congress were interested in themselves and that he was the only one trying to think about the whole country, it was probably the worst shock he ever got in his life. He did a little better on securing co-operation for a bi-partisan, non-partisan foreign policy. Congress went along with him on that. But on domestic policies, it has been dog eat dog ever since VJ-Day.

So here he is faced with a hostile Congress again—a Republican Congress this time—pleading with all the pitiful earnestness he can put into it, for just a little of the unity that has been put into the handling of foreign policy, to shape domestic policy. He won't get it, of course. Congress will be opened in January with prayer and pious platitudes to work for the common good. Then the fight will begin.

Beware The Too-Common Cold

From the Provincial Health Bulletin

MORE COLDS begin on Monday than on any other day in the week, according to a 1945 analysis of workers' colds in several large industries reported in the 1946 Encyclopedia Britannica Book of the Year by Dr. Edwin F. Jordan, associate editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association. Other facts reported by Dr. Jordan are:

People whose work requires them to do a great deal of walking have the smallest number of colds and their colds are less severe. Increases in the number and severity of colds follow sudden drops in temperature.

Dr. Jordan reports that the industrial study disclosed that fewer colds are found in air conditioned plants, while the number is highest in drafty places. The analysis showed that December was the worst month for colds. Other facts brought out in the industrial plant survey indicate that with increasing age the tendency is toward fewer colds, but more severe ones. Another group of experiments, using 1,600 girls of college age as subjects, disclosed that periods of falling temperature with heavy rains show a sharp increase in the number of new colds per day. Summarizing the 1945 advances in the study of colds, Dr. Jordan points out that the actual "treatment of the common cold has not made much progress." Experiments made on Swedish conscripts during 1945 have shown that colds can be prevented by strong doses of vitamin C, according to the Britannica report, and tests on children showed that sulfadiazine had no preventive effects. DR. JORDAN writes, "It is the consensus that neither the sulfonamides nor penicillin is of value in ordinary colds or influenza." The above will serve to emphasize the fact that prevention of the common cold is the individual responsibility of everyone in the community. The potential dangers of colds, the discomfort, and loss of working hours they cause should not be minimized. Two special dangers accompany a cold. First, the early signs are often the same as the early signs of more serious communicable diseases. As colds are often considered too lightly, a more serious illness may be neglected at the very time it is most in need of attention. Second, long-continued or severe colds may pave the way for a chronic infection, or for pneumonia, or even tuberculosis.

TO PREVENT A COLD, avoid people who cough and sneeze carelessly, using any utensils that a person with a cold uses, drafts, wet feet, and wet clothing, chilling, especially when the body is wet with perspiration, drains on your health through a poorly balanced diet, too little sleep, and indifference toward the other rules of hygiene, wearing too many clothes indoors, and not enough outdoors. If you have a cold start treatment at the first sign, drink plenty of water, broth, or citrus fruits, and eat lightly of simple wholesome foods, put extra covers on the bed to "sweat out" the cold, keep away from other people as much as possible when you have a cold, cough or sneeze into a paper handkerchief or paper napkin that can be burned, blow your nose gently, to avoid the possibility of forcing germs into the sinuses or middle ear, and go to bed and call a doctor if you have a severe cold with body aches, fever, and weakness.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

(Halifax Herald)

Back in the period of the Gay Nineties, a wise American coined the mordant epigram: "Football bears the same relation to physical culture that bull-fight does to agriculture." Where he living today he might revise it to read: "Football bears the same relation to education that a bull-fight does to cultivation."

United States college football, that is . . . Year after year it develops into a bigger and still bigger business, a bigger and still bigger racket.

A good many of the "mastodons" and "behemoths" of college football think higher mathematics begin and end with playing signals, final scores and yardage gained. The only lectures they hear are those given by the coaches in the dressing-rooms.

It has reached the point with some American colleges where the football team is the biggest thing of all.

Surely the day will never come in Canada when the football "tail" begins to wag the college "dog."

CAN STAND IMPROVEMENT

Ottawa Journal

The Ottawa Civil Service Recreation Association is offering its members a ten-week course in radio—announcing, acting, script writing and play production. It sounds like a good thing; perhaps it could be extended with advantage to some of those who already use the broadcasting channels.

We often wonder whether the moguls of broadcasting ever try to get the reaction of the average listener to their products. Why is it, for example, that so much radio "drama" is played on a note of near-hysteria? Why is it necessary to use so many announcers who read badly and mispronounce even common words?

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has issued a new Handbook for Announcers, an excellent and extremely practical work on style, pronunciation and so on. It should be required reading for all who broadcast occasionally—or even professionally.

IT'S POSSIBLE

Edmonton Bulletin

One official observer of the explosions at Bikini says the atomic bomb has made long wars impossible "because science never will discover a material to shelter men or war plants from it."

The elements of which the atomic bomb is composed have existed for a long time together in the laboratory of nature; and the world hasn't been blown to pieces.

Perhaps the scientists will find out some day how nature managed to neutralize the dangerous properties of these elements—and how to copy the method.

MADE IN CANADADiggon Opposes B.C.E.R.
Bid For Transit System

Ald. H. M. Diggon opens the tender submitted by the B.C. Electric Railway Company as Mayor Percy George looks on.

Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, today recommended to the committee that the terms of the franchise offered by the B.C. Electric Railway Company be turned down. In expressing his unalterable opposition to the bid from the company, he said he did not think the committee should send any favorable recommendation to the four municipal councils.

In a lengthy analysis of the terms of the bid made by the B.C.E.R. Ald. Diggon told the committee that in his opinion "We have received no tender on our specifications," and warned that if the B.C.E.R. would not accept the committee's specifications and adapt them under committee direction there would be no alternative but for the municipalities to take over the transportation system and operate it under public ownership.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

In summing up, Ald. Diggon declared that the proposal as submitted by the B.C.E.R. definitely directed the committee's attention toward public ownership of the transportation service. "If we cannot buy the services we require on our terms, we shall be obliged to take over whatever equipment the local operator has and run the service ourselves. This we can do, and efficiently, too, make no mistake," he insisted.

In this event, he outlined the municipalities would arbitrate the value of the property acquired, and by injunction, if necessary, for the safety and convenience of the people, retain the units needed within the area, and acquire additional equipment wherever and whenever possible.

He expressed resentment at what he termed the "veiled threats" in W. C. Mainwaring's letter to the transportation committee, where it was claimed that the company had perpetual rights for public transportation in Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich, as well as the right to keep the streetcar tracks on the city streets, under a statute of 1894.

LESSONS RESPONSIBILITY

He charged that the purpose in every phase of the tender submitted by B.C.E.R. was to lessen the operators' responsibilities and obligations to the municipalities, rather than drafting an alternate franchise which is equally favorable to the people of the municipalities as the specifications set out by the committee.

Ald. Diggon also contended that the proposed agreement between the B.C.E.R. and Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd., with whom the city has no agreement, would sublease part of the lines within the limits of the city in the northern section, which is contrary to the specifications. He questioned if it was the intention of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines to give the 4 per cent of gross profits on this mileage to the city.

Other alterations to the specifications which Ald. Diggon recommended be turned down were the proposal to lower the deposit to the municipalities from $50,000 to $40,000; the minimum annual tax from $35,000 to $30,000 and the elimination entirely of the $100,000 bond to be posted throughout the period of the franchise.

KEEP TO SPECIFICATIONS

The company has also suggested that the municipalities only be given the opportunity to buy the system at the 10th and 20th years of the franchise, whereas the specifications called for this opportunity being given at the 5th, 10th, 15th and 20th years. Ald. Diggon pointed out that this differed from the franchise offered in Vancouver and was insistent that the committee should not recede from the position taken in the specifications in this regard.

He questioned the manner in which he alleged the B.C.E.R. was trying to side-step its responsibilities by giving itself the power to ignore the request of the municipalities for new routes if the requirement is not reasonable. "Who is to decide what is reasonable?" he queried.

Ald. Diggon also expressed disapproval of the wording of the clause which would have the company pay 4 per cent of gross profits "in lieu of all license fees and other taxes," because he said, it could include property taxes and in the specifications lands, shops, etc. are not included in the exemptions.

PAID MONTHLY
FOR 50 YEARS

Speaking on the company's offer to pay $250,000 towards the cost of removing the streetcar tracks and repaving the streets, instead of the $650,000 asked Ald. Diggon charged that for 50 years the B.C.E.R. had paid nothing beyond ordinary property taxes and small licenses, never any special tax on revenue, thus getting the use of the city streets practically without cost. He termed it an "insult to our intelligence" for the company to offer only $250,000 towards putting the streets in good condition.

He declared that if they could pay in the neighborhood of $500,000 to the Blue Lines for 16 old buses operating on three routes, they could afford to pay more than $250,000 on the streets "which have been destroyed or depreciated by B.C.E.R. streetcars and buses."

His concluding words were

AND... CONSIDER THE COMFORT AND FUEL SAVING FROM ROCK WOOL INSULATION

Saanich Man Shot
In Neck Recovering

Suffering a shallow bullet wound and powder burns on the right side of his neck when a .303 Ross sporting rifle discharged while he was handling it, Thomas Ottaway, 36 years, 620 Huxley Street, Saanich, is recovering in Jubilee Hospital today where he was rushed by municipal police Friday night.

Police Cpl. Jack Hamilton said the accident occurred at 10 last night while Ottaway was alone in his bedroom. He lived with his sister, Mrs. J. F. E. Harrison, her husband and family.

The Harrison family was downstairs when they heard the shot. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison rushed to Ottaway's bedroom and were met by the wounded man coming out through the doorway holding his neck.

He was able to walk to a police prowler car, called to the house immediately after the shooting.

1947 May 24 Show

Jan. 10 is the date when all organizations which participated in the 1946 May 24 celebrations program will meet to draft plans for "a bigger and better" parade and program generally in 1947. It was decided at a meeting of the Greater Victoria committee yesterday.

The committee decided to ask all schools to take part in the parade and to seek entries from all island centres and coast cities. The three arms of the services were expected to offer their usual co-operation for an event of this nature.

California Counts Losses After Storm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Punishing winds, the worst to pummel the California coast since 1926, abated today, leaving disrupted communications, damaged buildings and uprooted trees along a wide front.

Two deaths were attributed to the storm in a high Sierra snow-slide.

It was the second violent disturbance within a week for the coastal area, and the accompanying rain in the lowlands and snow in the mountains snarled traffic and contributed to numerous accidents.

Prewar Excitement Revived On Arrival Of Liner

All the glamour and excitement attending the arrival in port of an ocean passenger liner was revived at the Ogden Point Docks here Friday night as the 10,000-ton motorship Wanganella docked from the South Seas. Her decks brightly illuminated, the Wanganella, with eager passengers craning their necks over the promenade rail in efforts to recognize relatives ashore, warped into her berth at 7.30 o'clock, terminating a 22-day passage from Sydney, N.S.W. Music was played on deck as the immigration and customs formalities went forward. Then the passengers streamed ashore and expectant citizens went aboard to greet their kin.

It was the first since the beginning of the war, excluding troopships, that an ocean passenger liner had docked at this port.

Over 400 passengers were brought in by the Wanganella, including 100 Australian girls bound for the United States to rejoin their American husbands and fiancées.

One of the first to be greeted was H. F. Leedham, Toronto-born veteran of the New Zealand services, now coming to Victoria to live with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Craib, 628 Moss Street.

Shortly after the ship docked, Mr. and Mrs. Craib and Mr. Leedham's sister, Jean, were on the promenade deck talking with the young man who has been away from Canada since January, 1938.

Mr. Leedham saw four years and six months' service in the New Zealand forces, his time split equally between the army and navy.

His companions for the voyage were three New Zealanders, Colin T. Martin, Australian-born Victorian, met his mother, Mrs. V. E. Martin of Sydney, N.S.W., for the first time in 20 years when the Wanganella arrived here. With his family, Mr. Martin greets Left to right: Miss June Martin, Mrs. Colin T. Martin, Mrs. Martin and his mother, and his son, Fred.

W. J. Munro, G. Fisher and P. L. Whyte, who are coming to Canada in the hope of working here. Colin T. Martin, 2131 Central Avenue, was there to greet his mother, Mrs. V. E. Martin, whom he has not seen for 20 years. Mrs. Martin comes from Sydney, Australia.

LIKES CANADA BEST

Another passenger aboard the ship was W. Alexander, a Scot who lived in Canada from 1927 to 1938, then went to Australia for a visit and was caught there by the war. He joined the Royal Australian Engineers, serving first in the Middle East and later the Pacific.

When he left here, he had a farm in the prairies, and now he hopes to go back to farming there. He has nothing against Australia, he said, but he would rather live in Canada. His strong Australian accent, which he did not have when he left here, he attributes to his service in the Australian army.

Others among the 18 persons who disembarked here were Mrs. O. M. Geal, who is going down to Seattle to see her daughter, Mrs. Reid Berga, who met and married her husband in Australia. Mr. Berga is still serving with the U.S. navy as a chief pharmacist's mate. Also disembarking was Miss A. K. Lauridsen, who is going to Los Angeles.

Among the returning Canadians, of whom there were 107 aboard the Wanganella, was Miss C. A. Overend, heading back to Calgary, which she left to go to New Zealand with her family in February, 1945. Her family, she said, liked New Zealand, but liked Calgary better.

Prominent passengers included: Mr. N. M. Potter, chief engineer, Eveready (Australia) Pty. Ltd., and Mrs. Potter; Mrs. G. F. Bergelin, wife of Maj. G. F. Bergelin, member of the Australian Legion, Washington, D.C., and family; J. F. Trevorrow, Australian representative of William Bros., Boiler and Engine Co., Minneapolis; F. D. Walker, who is joining the staff of the Australian Associated Press in New York; K. Loftus-Hills, going America on behalf of the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, and Mrs. Loftus-Hills and their two children.

P. F. Magee, who is joining the Australian Embassy staff at Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Magee and two children; Dr. L. Sale-Harrison, prominent minister of religion, late of New York City, and now en route from New Zealand to Seattle to carry on Bible conference work; Mrs. (Dr.) A. Zebrowska, Polish psychologist, and Mrs. Wroughton Russell, New Zealand, who worked in the B.C. Canteen in London during the war.

Master of the Wanganella is Capt. R. Darroch, who was last here in 1895 when he sailed as seaman aboard the four-masted barque Duchalborn.

WENT TO NIAGARA'S AID

Capt. Darroch had command of the Wanganella all through the war. She was the mystery ship which went to the rescue of the passengers aboard the Niagara, when that Canadian-Australasian Line ship struck an enemy mine off the coast of North Auckland on the morning of June 19, 1940. Wartime censor ship prevented publication of the Wanganella's name at that time.

During the war, the Wanganella, built in 1930 by Harland and Wolff, Belfast, served as a troopship and hospital ship. In the early part of the war, she saw service in the Middle East, including runs to Italy. In the latter stages of the war she was stationed variously in the Moluccas, Borneo and New Guinea. The vessel was in Kuching, on the southwest side of Borneo on the day of the Japanese surrender.

The Wanganella, before coming on this trip, her first voyage as a passenger ship since September, 1940, was eight months being reconverted. One of the major portions of the work done on her was erection of modern quarters for the crew at the aft end. The accommodation now ranks among the best aboard any ship in the world, according to the captain.

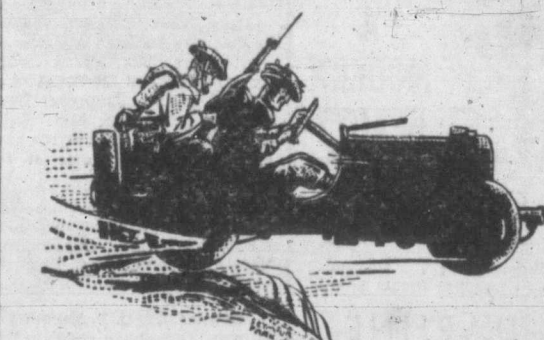

Capt. Darroch said he is hoping to come here again, but he has received no definite information yet. The Wanganella was sent here on a special trip authorized by the Australian government to help meet the present shipping shortage.

DELAYED BY STRONG WINDS

On the trip up, the captain said, the ship enjoyed good weather until she reached about 36 degrees north longitude when the weather gradually became heavily overcast and strong northwest and northeast winds began to blow. Heavy seas set up two or three days out of Victoria.

Thursday the weather became very rough and was the cause of the ship being delayed. She was originally due at William Head quarantine station at 7 Friday morning. The time was later changed to 2 and finally to 4. She finally stood off Race Rocks at 20 minutes past 4.

Weather was heavily overcast and the wind increased to a strong gale. The vessel was under easy steam for six hours Thursday night. Direction finding stations were able to give good signals to his ship during this period, the captain said, and enabled the Wanganella to proceed into the Straits.

This Big Boy Has Nerves Too, Just ask his dentist.

Every human being—large or small, old or young—is dependent on his nervous system.

The nervous system supplies the energy to run the machinery of the body. Every time you breathe or move a muscle you consume some nervous energy.

At some time, in nearly every life, the supply runs short and you are left nervous, irritable and bodily tired. The night's sleep, if you can sleep, does not rest you.

You must call in outside help and this suggests the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

There are two reasons. First Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the mineral tonics and Vitamin B1—the essentials for new pep and energy.

Second, after fifty years on the market this product has more than doubled in sales during the last five years.

More and more men are proving its benefits, for men as well as women are subject to nervous troubles, especially nervous indigestion, restlessness and tired feelings.

Ask your Druggist for the new economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Second 'Blue Baby' To Enter Eastern U.S. Hospital Dec. 5

The Victoria Lions Club efforts to secure funds from Greater Victoria citizens to provide Janet No. 2, Victoria's second "Blue Baby" with a life-saving operation has been highly successful, and at Friday's meeting of the club, campaign chairman E. A. Estlin reported the child will enter Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Dec. 5.

Janet No. 2 will leave Victoria next Friday.

The Lions, using the Janet No. 1 campaign for funds as a guide, set $3,000 as the minimum required to send the girl east for the delicate heart operation. Mr. Estlin reported $3,326 had been donated. In the first "Blue Baby" drive the Lions secured $4,000 from a willing-to-help public. This little girl underwent her operation during the mid-year period and is home now restored to health.

He spoke of the way the Lions had advanced to the forefront through its energetic efforts on behalf of the city and its citizens.

A.F.L. Unions Asked To Answer Questions On School System

Does the product of the present Greater Victoria high school education system meet the demands of business and industry?

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Friday night was asked to help answer that question.

Jack White, speaking on behalf of the schools, told the council a survey was being conducted to obtain certain basic facts concerning the vocations of the Greater Victoria area. Forms were submitted to all delegates with certain questions.

Included among the questions asked on the forms was this: Should boys who do not intend to enter university be provided with a more practical type of training in Greater Victoria high schools.

He suggested the delegates as representative of specific trades give the total number of skilled men in their respective trades. It was also suggested they answer questions pertinent to elevating the standard of future craftsmen.

Percy Rayment, president of the council, reported on the meeting held this week at which various suggestions were put forward for building school curricula. He commended Education Minister G. M. Weir for calling the meeting.

Ben F. Sead, member of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.), sought endorsement of his platform in the civic elections.

Mrs. Rayment also spoke in support of Save the Children Fund.

DON'T EXPERIMENT WITH A HEADACHE

take ASPIRIN

REMEMBER! Of all pain relievers, none can match ASPIRIN'S record of use by millions of normal people without ill effect

THESE MILLIONS know from experience, the thing to do when you get an ordinary headache... the kind most of us get every now and then... is to take ASPIRIN for fast, effective relief.

But when ASPIRIN does not give you relief... if the pain keeps up... it will pay you to remember that not all headaches are the common everyday type. Therefore, you should see your doctor, for your pain may actually be a warning from nature that something else is wrong with you—something much more serious.

In this event, whatever you do—don't experiment! To do so may be harmful. Instead, see your doctor. He alone should decide if you need a stronger remedy and if so, what kind.

Always remember that your doctor—and only your doctor is qualified to recommend a stronger remedy.

Also don't ever forget that for ordinary headaches—the thing to use for really fast relief is ASPIRIN.

When you buy, always be sure you get ASPIRIN... not a substitute.

It Starts to Go to Work Almost INSTANTLY!

ASPIRIN is a single active ingredient that is so gentle to the system many doctors recommend it even for small children. Yet this ingredient is so amazingly effective—that ASPIRIN is ready to go to work almost immediately.

War Bride Returns Here With Husband From Australia

Among passengers disembarking from the motorship Wanganella here Friday evening were a returning Canadian war bride of an Australian, her husband and their son who are coming to Canada to make their home.

They are Mr. and Mrs. J. Connelly of Brisbane, Australia. They were met at Ogden Point docks by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Day, 3240 Doncaster Drive, whose own daughter left over a year ago for Australia as the wife of an Australian serviceman.

Mrs. Connelly, who is formerly of Winnipeg, was one of 300 Canadian girls who left San Francisco in October, 1945, as war brides of Australian servicemen. The family hopes to make its home in Vancouver.

Another returning Canadian was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Jeffs, 3120 Earl Grey Street, who is now home after six and a half years' service with the Royal Navy and Royal New Zealand navy.

Miss H. Robinson of Nelson, New Zealand, was met by her niece, Mrs. Ian Jardine, 1540 Despard Avenue.

Another North American there to meet the Wanganella was Donald Garris of Seattle, who greeted his bride-to-be, Miss Nancy Harrison, whom he met during the war in Newcastle, Australia, three years ago.

Expect Highway Washout Trouble Rectified Today

It was expectation of the B.C. Public Works Department today that the work of repair crews on the washed-out section of the Island Highway near Nanaimo, north of Nanaimo, would enable normal bus and car traffic to be resumed today.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus schedules north of Nanaimo were halted last night at 9.15 as a result of the washout. Hundreds of cars halted on either side of the washout were helped over the obstacle by bulldozers.

The washout took place on a low-lying section of the highway, that which runs past the Straits Lumber Company mill and has been under reconstruction for the last few months.

Many island points got much more snow than Victoria during this week's winter storm which swept through the Northwest, but in spite of slippery conditions Provincial Police report "an amazing lack of accidents."

However, last night there was one fatal accident on icy Solly's Hill, north of Duncan, when Miss Patricia Walsh, 59 Cook Street, was killed.

The week-end weather forecast for Victoria and vicinity, calls for high temperatures, 15 m.p.h. winds and showers.

The forecast in part is: "Today, overcast with showers and becoming cloudy with showers in the afternoon and evening; Sunday, cloudy in the morning and clearing in the afternoon."

The minimum temperature tonight is predicted at 40 and the maximum tomorrow is forecast as 46. Yesterday's top temperature was 45, the minimum 38.

RESPONSIBILITY OF MOLDING SON'S CHARACTER REMAINS WITH DAD

One of the reasons why we have so many delinquent children is because we have so many delinquent fathers. There are plenty of men who have child and work like slaves to give them every comfort and luxury, but the number of men who put in as much time and thought and effort on being good fathers as they do on being good doctors or lawyers or merchants or bus drivers, is infinitesimally small.

The old chestnut story about the little boy who asked his mother who was that strange man who always came to their house on Sunday is no merry jest. It is only too sadly true. There are millions of children who, except for biological and social reasons, might just as well have no fathers at all as the ones they have. To them their fathers are nothing but cash registers that their mothers punch to get the money to pay for their baseball outfits and summer camps when they are kids, and high-priced colleges and cars when they are adolescents.

In all their lives they have never had a free conversation with their fathers and they have no idea in the world of what manner of men they are. I know of one case in which a nearly grown lad expressed great surprise on finding out that his father was a famous man and that his words were listened to with great respect whenever he spoke on any subject. "Why," he said, "I didn't know that Father was anybody. I just thought he was 'Father.'"

NEGLECT TO DUTY

That these negligent fathers, who take no part in forming their children's characters, are largely responsible for the juvenile delinquency which is prevalent now, no one can doubt. For there comes a time in the lives of all youngsters when they scorn their mothers' opinions because they are women, and because they think that Mother knows nothing of the world, and when they need a father's strong hand over them, and when they will be guided by him because he has traveled the road they are just starting down.

But father can do nothing to save his children if he has not bound them to him with hoops of steel. He must have made friends with them when they were in their cradles. He must have played with them, and talked with them, and studied them and known their every thought and impulse and, above all, he must have had their confidence to know how to guide them, and save them from themselves and from temptations that beset youth.

All men know these simple truths and yet there are thousands of men who wouldn't trust their wives' judgment to buy a cheap automobile, but who turn over their children to them to be reared, and take no part in the process. They see that Mother is spoiling Marlene to death and Johnny is being allowed to grow up lazy and shiftless and that Tommy is running wild, but they are more concerned in the slump of the stock market than they are about a weak and silly woman ruining the lives of their children.

YEARS OF LOVE, WORK

Of course these delinquent fathers, who shirk their duty to their children, don't intend to always do it. Some day they mean to pal up with their youngsters and be real fathers to them. But rearing children is not a job that you can put off for 20 years and then turn a bunch of young hoodlums into plaster saints. Characters are not built in a day. A father's influence is not established in a minute. It takes years upon years of love and work and example to turn out a product you are proud of.

If we had more fathers who were on their jobs, we would have no juvenile delinquency problem.

British-U.S. Arms Plan Criticized

LONDON (AP)—Plans to standardize British and U.S. arms, will make Britain "an American aircraft carrier off the coast of Europe," the leader of a Labor Party revolt against British foreign policy said Friday. "Our foreign policy will inevitably be dependent on the foreign policy of the power which manufactures our arms," Richard H. S. Crossman told the National Peace Council. "I believe we ought either to have military agreements with both the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. or with neither."

ATHENS (Reuter)—A bill providing for prison sentences suspension of journalists from the exercise of their profession and confiscation of newspapers for press offences was introduced in the Greek parliament Thursday night by Justice Minister Panos Hadjipanos.

Candidates For 9 School Board Seats

Candidates for all nine seats on the Greater Victoria School Board were assured as John A. de Bourcier, 2625 Burdick Avenue, today announced his candidature for the remaining Oak Bay seat on the board.

Mr. de Bourcier will run for the one-year term on the school board. Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, one of Oak Bay trustees now on the board, is running for the two-year term.

Mr. de Bourcier has been a resident of Oak Bay for four and a half years, and of Victoria for six years previously. He is a member of the executive of the Willows Parent-Teacher Association.

At the present time the only section in which an election is assured for the trusteeships is in Victoria, where three candidates have announced their intention of running for the two-year terms on the board. They are Waldo Skillings and Maj. R. H. Green, sitting members, and R. F. Williams, labor candidate.

Joan Fontaine In Romantic Role

Co-starring two of the most romantic personalities ever brought together, "Frenchman's Creek," due Monday at the York Theatre, presents the luscious, golden beauty of Academy Award winner, Joan Fontaine, and the new Latin lover, hailed as the star find of the year, Arturo de Cordova.

The fact that the leads are handled by Fontaine and de Cordova glorifies the intense dramatic quality of a reckless romance between a noble lady and a handsome, daring pirate leader.

In a 17th century setting along the rugged wind-swept Cornish coast, "Frenchman's Creek" is the story of a woman's escape from reality into a dream land of stolen love.

DOMINION THEATRE

Those past masters of the art of producing really first-rate screen melodrama are at it again. Which is just another way of calling attention to Warner Bros.' newest effort in that direction, "Shadow of a Woman," the Dominion Theatre's current presentation that co-stars Helmut Dantine and Andrea King and features, in other important roles, Don McGuire, Dick Erdman, John Alvin and William Prince.

ROYAL THEATRE

Because her role requires her to play identical twin sisters, Bette Davis has a larger wardrobe in "A Stolen Life," now at the Royal Theatre, than in any other picture of her career. Orry-Kelly designed the star's clothes which are all ultra modern. Glenn Ford, Walter Brennan, Dane Clark and Charlie Ruggles are featured in the cast.

'The Stranger' Coming To Capitol

Highlighted by suspense and romance International's "The Strangers," starring Edward G. Robinson, Loretta Young and Orson Welles, comes to the Capitol Theatre Monday.

The plot follows the efforts of a persistent detective to identify a wanted fugitive who has taken refuge in a small community. The fugitive has destroyed all evidence which might be used against him, and under the peculiar circumstances of his recent marriage he knows he is safe.

The sleuth's determination to penetrate the villain's armor and trap him into giving himself away, results in a climax of striking intensity in the bell tower of the village church.

RIO THEATRE

When Roy Rogers goes horseback riding these days, over the trails back of his San Fernando Valley home, he has company in the person of his daughter, Cheryl. Cheryl recently became the proud owner of a pony—the gift of one of her famous father's fans. The pony, a Shetland, is marked and colored exactly like Trigger, Rogers' palomino. Currently Rogers is seen in his latest starring role in Republic's "Utah," screening at the Rio Theatre.

Henry V, Technicolor Film, Opens Thursday

Tickets for Henry V, the technicolor film production of Shakespeare's play, starring Laurence Olivier, go on sale today at Fletcher's on Douglas Street, and, for the convenience of Oak Bay residents, at Bett's Book Shop, Oak Bay Avenue. Seats for the first five days of the engagement of the film will be on sale at either place. The film, which opens on Thursday night at the Oak Bay Theatre, will be shown on a two-day policy, with all seats reserved.

Henry V was filmed for the most part in Ireland during the war, in order to escape the air raids. It was made at the special request of the Ministry of Information to bolster the spirit of Britain, for in the character of King Henry V, Shakespeare painted his most patriotic and dashing personality.

Intrigue Stalks To Beat Of Rhumba

Film fans are in for adventure as Pat O'Brien rocks Mexico City on a perilous holiday. It's the hottest yarn that ever scorched the screen.

Even more exciting than the celebrated Collier's story is Columbia Picture's filming of "Perilous Holiday," playing at the Atlas Theatre Monday. Intrigue, love and murder stalk to the beat of the rhumba! Pat's on the trail of some international thieves... and two women are gunning for Pat!

Ruth Warwick is Pat's leading lady.

MUSTANGS MEET

An important meeting of the Victoria Mustang football club will be held in the Public Schools Club Monday night at 8. All players and officials are asked to attend.

C.C.F. Runs Alsby for Vancouver Mayor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's mayoralty election next month will be a three-way race. A. T. Alsby, 42-year-old teacher and past president of the C.C.F. in British Columbia, announced Friday night he would run.

The other candidates are Senator G. G. McGeer, former mayor, running under the sponsorship of the Civic Non-Partisan Association, and former alderman Halford D. Wilson, running as an independent. The present mayor, is not standing for re-election.

Mr. Alsby, who ran second in the voting for mayor here in 1944 behind the present mayor, reversed an earlier decision not to run because of pressure of his work as principal of a Vancouver high school.

Entrance of Mr. Alsby in the mayoralty race gives the C.C.F. an almost complete civic slate in the city elections scheduled for Dec. 11.

Do Root Pruning Now—Go Easy With Shears

Since root growth more or less continues all winter, one of the most important jobs this week is to root prune all hedges. Cut a narrow trench, one spade's depth, along the hedge and as close to it as possible. Carefully sever all roots encountered. All trees thrust their roots in huge quantities to form a perfect mat beneath the lawn and throughout all the beds and borders. Any and every tree root which points towards your lawn and garden should be carefully severed, right where it leaves the tree. You'll be amazed at how much better your lawn and plants grow when you don't force them to try to compete with the choking millions of tree roots which, because they are underground, are generally forgotten.

Root activity, in winter, is seldom seen or appreciated and yet, here in this district root growth and activity go on all winter long, only taking time out when frost is in the ground or the weather is extra cold. Therefore, since root activity is going on, it should be encouraged and not prevented by allowing soil to become sour through lack of air. One job that always pays dividends at this time is to stir or cultivate the soil as often and as much as possible.

UNABLE TO BREATHE

Should any areas become soft, sticky or muddy, a condition is there that will prevent the correct function of the roots in that they will lack for air and be unable to breathe.

Any over-wet or muddy spots in the garden should have enough coarse sand well worked into the present soil to provide as perfect a drainage as possible. A few buckets of sand, used now, will save many of your plants that will otherwise come to harm and die this winter.

Shallow rooted plants generally provide their own "blankets" to keep them warm during winter. A good example of this is the foxglove. The broad leaves, although they turn brown early, still serve as a protection for their roots all winter. Although the leaves of many plants turn brown in fall, be sure these "blankets" are not needed before you remove them. Don't let your natural dislike of ugly brown leaves cause you to remove needed protection for roots against frost.

Mulching bulbs is a term found in garden books. It is only applicable in other parts of the country—not here. When the new shoots of any bulbs like bulbous iris, tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and bluebells come through the ground, do not try to protect them by mulching, in this climate. This treatment will do more harm than good. All the spring flowering bulbs are perfectly hardy here. When they thrust their little green shoots through the soil, whether it be in November or February, do not interfere, but just leave them alone and they will take care of themselves.

AIDING THE SHRUBS

The soil under the shrubs is still very, very dry, and although the rains have started you can give the shrubs a fine "assist" if you thrust a crowbar deeply into the ground in about 20 places around each shrub. F the holes with rich black sandy soil and a little bone meal. Then turn on the hose and let it trickle slowly for several hours into these "pockets." Gardeners who gave their shrubs this treatment last fall are full of praise for this extremely helpful treatment.

"Ripe-wood" is a term which should be given very careful consideration in this climate. For the last few years, even in spite of our lack of thought about this important item, the plants have not suffered, because there was little adverse weather. Should we get one or two days of bitter cold and frost this fall before many plants have properly "ripened" they are liable to be winter-killed. Shrubby plants like roses, for instance, have woody branches which, to be in perfect shape to live over winter, should properly ripen. When this "ripening" is complete the leaves drop, which is a sure sign that the "juice" inside the branches has become so thick and treacle-like that a frost cannot freeze it or winter-kill the plant.

When one is "cleaning up" the garden, there is an intense desire to grasp a pair of shears and really get to work. If the ugly branches of any plant or shrub which has not completed its ripening process are cut, a new green shoot growth is invariably promoted, which thins out the blood of the shrub and makes it vulnerable to any severe winter weather which might chance to pay your garden a visit soon.

As a general rule, although the garden may look a little untidy, it is wise not to cut back any shrubby growth until later.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR LAWN

Now that the weather is cooler and more moist, the grass may be cut a little shorter for one cutting. Don't have it too short when frost comes or some areas may be damaged. The most important point about cutting grass from now on is to leave it fairly long but to cut it, even in winter, if any parts grow so long that they hang over, especially when wet.

Should there be any spots in the lawn where the soil is muddy or green fungus or moss appear, scatter about a half inch of coarse sand over the areas. After this has worked into the soil during winter, the grass will be more healthy and respond well to fertilizer, used next April.

These next two weeks are ideal ones to move any evergreens or perennial flowers that have to be changed around.

Plan to get all moving of plants done before Dec. 15 so that they will have ample time to establish a new and healthy root growth before the spring top-growth commences.

So do not fertilize any deciduous trees or shrubs from now on until they have become leafless and dormant. Cultivate around them, however.

JOCKEY INJURED

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Veteran jockey Joseph Matral suffered a possible neck fracture when he was thrown from his mount, Miss R, at the start of the fourth race at Bowie Thursday.

Miss R broke from an outside post position stall at the mile and a sixteenth pole in view of some 10,000 fans, stumbled and tossed Matral heavily.

Solly Publishes 'Hardy Bulbs' As Guide For Gardeners

"Hardy Bulbs," by Cecil Solly, ($2.00), is just off the press. It is the only bulb book published which gives complete cultural instructions for amateurs, and is fully illustrated, with 16 pages of color and many black and white pictures and charts. There is a big demand for bulbs this fall and an expected sale of many books on their culture.

This book, written by Mr. Solly, is unique in that it contains full directions for the culture of all spring flowering bulbs. It is written expressly for the home gardeners who want to have a year-after-year display of fine bulb flowers. It tells how to plant and grow the bulbs so that the finest results are always assured. Complete with many illustrations, diagrams and plenty of colored plate pictures of the inexpensive lovely sorts that every gardener will feel proud to grow at home.

A commercial grower will find it particularly helpful to have this book as a sample of the bulb information being widely distributed to the consumer public.

Mr. Solly has found that the public is increasingly anxious to have more detailed descriptions of outstanding varieties and to learn more about bulb care.

He tells how to start and grow the bulbs in pots, that they may be brought into the house for indoor winter flowers and fragrance. Window box culture is fully discussed. Suitable bulbs for rock gardens and perennial borders, bulbs as shrub companions and many other sugges-

Britain Fears Depression Born In America—Watson

HALIFAX (CP)—Sam Watson, a member of the British National Labor Council said here Friday night the greatest fear of British leaders was that a depression originating on this side of the Atlantic might bring disaster to their program before it could be established on a "lasting and solid" basis.

Speaking at a public meeting, as part of his C.C.F.-sponsored tour, Mr. Watson said Britain was the first industrial nation of the world to adopt a Socialist government with a planned economy, without use of revolution and bloodshed.

By PETE SALLAWAY

ALTHOUGH no individual desires to be named as the driving force behind the plan there is a definite move among certain English rugby enthusiasts in Victoria to introduce the 13-man game here. Famed as the code of the Northern Union in Britain the sport, according to its supporters, opens up the play and provides the spectators with a much more thrilling exhibition. I was informed today that it is quite possible two well-known city clubs will schedule a trial match under the 13-man rules with the idea of learning just how the fans react to the new version. Under the Northern Union rules the clubs play with only six forwards. The 13-man game has been tried out in Vancouver this season and, according to reports, was popular.

NO DOUBT the plan will not meet with the approval of a number of the rugby die-hards. They will sit back and argue it is not in the best interests of the sport—against tradition and so forth. How well I remember the howl that went up when the substitution rule was first suggested for rugby. These same die-hards put up a game fight against the plan but smarter heads finally prevailed and a modified substitute rule was introduced. Even then these critics continued their efforts against the scheme and attempted to have it voted out to no avail. Any plan which will tend to speed up play is good business as far as rugby is concerned. The ruggerists might also think about some plan to introduce a regular schedule of inter-city games next season. This in addition to the annual McKechnie Cup fixtures. Soccer interests have proven intercity competition pays off this season with large crowds attending the Coast League engagements.

NEW YORK RANGERS ARE

going to have to do something about their losing ways in the National Hockey League. During the war years the Blue shirts could rest in the bottom of the league and still draw sell-out crowds. Nobody squawked because it was known there was an acute shortage of first-class hockey material. But this season it's a different story. The Rangers are still losing but the Gotham fans and sports writers are starting to holler already and the season is just over a month old. The criticism apparently is bothering the Rangers' management as Coach Frankie Boucher is at present scouting the American Hockey League clubs with the hope of picking up some much-needed player material from the minors. From all indications it would appear the Rangers need bolstering defensively. The club has shown it can score goals but has been unable to hold even a three-goal lead.

RANGERS have made a lot of money, despite their miserable record the last five seasons and it looks like they will have to step out and cut loose with a big chunk of their profits and buy some hockey players. There is nothing wrong with the club that two or three top-notch performers would not remedy. Boucher made the statement recently it was impossible for the club to even buy players as no other club in the circuit was willing to sell any of its first stringers. If Rangers offer enough of that folding stuff they can get players. I have never heard of any professional team being unwilling to sell a player providing the price were right. It must be humiliating for the second largest city in the world to have a tail-end club year after after.

Big Four Declares Grid Final Forfeited

Victoria football fans, who have been patiently awaiting the outcome of the Mustang-V.A.C. stalemate, with the coveted Lipton Cup hanging in the balance, will be interested to learn of the latest action of the Big Four executive in this respect.

Without notifying the Victoria Club, the Big Four held an executive meeting in Vancouver and sent the following telegram to Mustang officials on Friday: "By reason of your club refusing to play final game here Saturday, Nov. 23, game is hereby declared forfeited to V.A.C." on behalf of the Big Four Executive—Jim Creighton secretary.

Doug Fletcher, president of the Victoria Junior Hockey Association, has announced that there are still openings on the junior and juvenile hockey clubs for experienced players, and anyone requesting a try-out is asked to get in touch with Fletcher or Ivan Temple.

Use of the recreation hall above the fire hall on Cormorant St. has been obtained for training periods on Mondays and Wednesday at 7:30.

The following players are requested to meet at the Blue Line Taxi Office on Yates St. Sunday morning at 10 for the weekly workout at Nanaimo:

Angling and Hunting

By 'CAP' THORSEN
Several hundred tickets are still available at Wilson and Lenfesty's store for the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association 1946 jamboree in the Crystal Garden on the night of Dec. 9 to write finis to its first postwar year.

In addition to dancing in the upper ballroom will be refreshments, a floor show and games of the "Klondike Night" variety in the lower ballroom.

TROUT SEASON FINISHED

In the outdoor local sporting world, trout fishermen have tucked their tackle away in the moth balls until March 1 rolls around on the new year calendar, for the 1946 season came to a close on the island Nov. 14.

The only member of the trout family which remains open the year around is the sea-going rainbow, otherwise known as the steelhead. It is too early yet, but during the winter months Victoria rodmen look to the Cowichan River headwaters to provide them with some of their favorite sport.

Only two types of game remain on the island hunting front which nimrods can line their sights on as the year draws toward its end. These are certain members of the duck tribe and buck deer. The duck population at the present time on the lower island is good—but the majority of them settle into the safe regions of sanctuaries where hunters are forbidden to shoot. Beacon Hill Park today is a good example of this.

Young Fighters Who Will Show On First Amateur Card

A week tonight at the Bay Street Armories the Greater Victoria Amateur Boxing Association will present its initial card, featuring 33 rounds of fistfuffs. In the main event, a lightweight affair, Eddie Hadad, R.C.N., will tangle with George Brabant over five rounds. Four-round semifinal will bring together Sailor Shaw, R.C.N., and Art Burgess. Group of youngsters above will provide the action in the preliminary bouts. From left to right, back row: G. Knell, Esquimalt; Jim Housie, James Bay; R. Gladstone, James Bay; L. Knott, James Bay; J. Fry, Esquimalt; K. Bertram, Esquimalt; front row: R. Darrell, North Ward; B. Gordon, Oak Bay; J. Baines, North Ward; W. Morgan, Esquimalt; E. McDonald, Esquimalt, and R. Der, North Ward.

Legion-Navy Meet In Grid Feature

It will be Legion Bears against the hard running Royal Canadian Navy gridders in the feature match of the junior seven-man American Football league's bill at Central Park Sunday afternoon, with the first game getting under way at 1:30.

J.B.A.A., defending titleists, will be out to regain some of their lost prestige when they tangle with the St. Louis College Bobcats in the day's opening match. St. Louis' game was cancelled last week and they have been drilling hard of late in an attempt to get back in the running for the title.

Navy, who has powerhoused its way to two straight wins, will be favored to make three in a row this week-end but Legion players are confident they can stop the speedy sailors.

Carpet Bowling

Results of matches in the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League follow:

Esquimalt 12, Willows Park 20; Sherwood 20, Friars 17; Willows Park 14; Esquimalt 22, Beadles 12.

The following matches are scheduled next week: Tuesday, Friars vs. Beadles; C.C.F. vs. Esquimalt, Thursday, Sherwood vs. Willows Park.

Eagles Register 4th Straight Win In Hoop Circuit

Gar Taylor's Eagles bouncing back from their opening game defeat in the senior B basketball league, chalked up their fourth straight win at the Victoria High School last night as they edged the hard fighting Royal Canadian Navy hoopers 32 to 31 in nip and tuck battle that was decided in the last minute of play.

Down three points at the end of the third quarter, the Sailors made a determined bid to pull the match out of the fire, and on the strength of some brilliant long range sniping by Stan James, who garnered 13 points, forged into a 29 to 28 lead four minutes from time.

Two foul shots by Red McMillan, and a basket by Tooby in the last few seconds of the game gave the Eagles a three-point lead, but Dave Naismith came right back to score on a long one-hander. The rally wasn't good enough, however, as the game ended seconds later with the birdmen in possession of the ball.

RANSOM STARS

Jim Ransom, speedy forward, notched 15 points for his team and played an outstanding game on defence. James and Naismith were the best of the losers.

Chinese Students had little trouble in their senior C match with Mooney's and after building up a 16 to 5 lead at the breather, coasted to a 32 to 16 triumph.

Sylvester U Drive were much too light for Canadian Legion, and dropped the midget game 16 to 6. Clark was high man for the winners with five points.

UPLANDS GOLF

First turkey competition of the season will be held at the Uplands Golf Club—tomorrow with starting times from 9 to 12. The event will be 18 holes medal on full handicap.

SAANICH INLET GRILSE

For angling sport today Saanich Inlet is recommended. There is a good supply of winter grilse in these waters and catches of 20 to 30 a boat are not hard to get using light tackle and No. 2 and 3 Tom Mack and abalone spoons.

SALMON LIMITS

We hear from a reliable source that Dominion fisheries officials on this coast have been asked to submit their personal ideas about limits being imposed the year around on salmon caught by sportsmen. Further, we hear, the general attitude of these officials is for a 12-month limit law. At the present time the only period when limits are imposed is from January 1 to May 31 each year. For the remainder of the year the way is open for unlimited catches.

SHOOTS BIG COUGAR

Duncan's Jack Buzzard is making an early start in the ranks of the big game hunters. Last Saturday the 15-year-old was out hunting with his father, R. W. Buzzard, and they separated. It was then the youngster encountered a six-foot female cougar on the eastern slope of Mount Provost. He was a dead-eye-Dick, dropping the cat with a single shot from his 30.30.

Baker In Uniform As Dominoes Play Alpines

Dave Nicol, boss of the Canadian champion Dominoes, announced today that Norm Baker, who has returned from the Chicago professional basketball team will definitely be in uniform for the locals when they take the floor against the powerful Seattle Alpine Dairy quintette at the Victoria High School at 9 tonight.

Andrews, Peden and Chapman, currently working out with the Vancouver pro cagers are over for this intercity tilt with Tommy Werner's classy aggregation of casaba artists.

Although the locals will be at full strength for the game to night with Alpines, fans who remember the stirring battles these two aggregations put up in former years, are of the opinion they will need all their championship ability to turn back the powerful dairymen.

ALPINES POWERFUL

Alpines, who represented the Pacific Northwest at the national A.A.U. tournament at Denver last spring, will have Arnie Reed, Roy Williamson, Jack O'Neill, John Katka, Ross Werner and Jack Voelker of last year's squad in uniform. Bob Graf, former pivot ace of prewar Alpine teams, is back this season and along with Bob Voelker will help make up for the loss of Hooper and Watson.

In an interview in Vancouver Friday, Porky Andrews, coach of the Vancouver pro club, stated that he was interested in obtaining Johnny Clark, lanky centre star of Dave Nicol's crew to play for the mainland team. If Clark is approached to play professional ball, the Victoria fans will be watching what may be the last appearance of the big names of the Dominoes in action, also see five men that may make up the Vancouver pro club. Baker is slated to play for Clem MacDonald's boys, and if he, Andrews, Clark, Peden and Chapman are on the floor as a unit fans may be looking at the future Vancouver lineup.

Vancouver Scores Hockey Victory

Vancouver Canucks staved off a third-period rally by the Tacoma Rockets to win a Pacific Coast Hockey League game 7 to 6 in Vancouver last night.

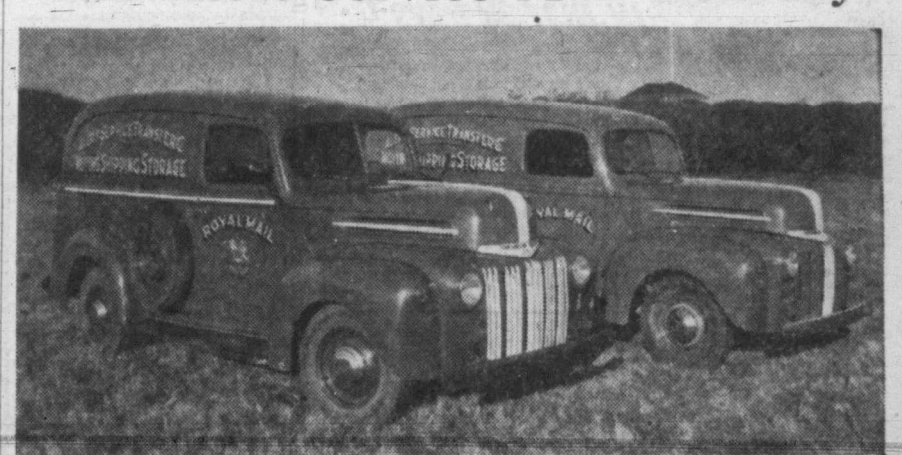

Ab McDougall sparked the Canucks' attack with three goals. The Canucks' first-string winger also poked in the winning goal, the product of a rink-long rush, which provided the nearest goal of the evening.

In Hollywood, Fresno Falcons were found short on staying power as Hollywood Wolves skated to a 4 to 1 victory.

Paul In Athens and Corinth

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
Scripture: Acts 17:22-28, 18:1-4; I Corinthians 1:22-25.
Athens and Corinth were the two outstanding cities of ancient Greece. Athens had back of it a long history of culture, and in Paul's day it was the university city of the Roman world. Corinth, aspiring to rival Athens, was a city of commerce, noted more for the luxurious and indulgent living of its inhabitants than for its culture.

The Scriptures give no account of a church at Athens, so the brilliant address that Paul gave on Mars Hill to the assembled philosophers apparently had no permanent result.

But the record, in Acts 17, of his visit to Athens and of the sermon he preached there, is among the most colorful and vital pages of the New Testament. Paul's address was a declaration concerning the nature of God and the meaning of faith in Him, in direct and courageous challenge to cultured paganism and the vagaries of the speculatively minded.

In Corinth, however, Paul made what was for him a long stay, at least 18 months, on his first visit. The fruits of his labors are seen in the longest of his Epistles, with their intimate picture of life in the church there.

Apparently the church at Corinth was composed mostly of Gentile converts, though there adhered to the Christian way a few noted Jews—Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, and Aquila and Priscilla, with whom Paul lived and worked.

As the Corinthian church grew in numbers dissensions developed, as is clear from the Epistles. How sharp these were is not so clear, but Paul found it necessary to rebuke those who were occasioning division, and some of the finest passages in the Epistles deal with the nature and need of Christian unity.

A part of the trouble arose when Apollos, an eloquent preacher, came to Corinth after Paul had left. He was a good man (Act 18:24-28), and there was apparently no rivalry between him and Paul, but partisans foolishly made a seeming rivalry between them, some saying, "I am of Paul," and others, "I am of Apollos."

Paul refers to his own presence as being weak, so it is possible that he was lacking in eloquence. Some have suggested, too, that "the thorn in the flesh" to which he refers was a weakness of the eyes. In any case, the contrast between him and eloquent Apollos was enough to occasion the thoughtless partizanship which Paul rebuked most vigorously.

"Is Christ divided?" he asked. "Was Paul crucified for you?" He wanted no glory for himself, but he was stirred up about these un-Christian divisions—as he would be about un-Christian divisions today.

The two Epistles to the Corinthians throw much light upon conditions in the early Christian church, but they are also full of warning and instruction for the church of today.

It is not enough to name the name of Christ, or to profess fellowship in His name. "If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His." That applies to churches as well as to individuals.

CHEAP LUMBER

Cull lumber at less than the price of wood. This lumber cannot be sold commercially at the sawmills because of being offsize, too much bark, splits, checks or pitch streaks, but hundreds of loads are being sold, and pieces picked out to repair barns, sidewalks, fences and garden stakes. Even if all this lumber were cut into wood it would be cheap inside wood and a load will make about 1 1/2 cords. Especially handy for people who live outside of town and find it hard to get wood. This lumber is in 1, 2, 3 and 4-inch boards and planks and timbers up to 20 feet long.

Cloudy Sky Blocks Eclipse View

Owing to cloudy weather, a partial eclipse which started at 10 minutes before sunrise this morning went unseen by astronomers at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich and by other early risers in Greater Victoria, according to Dr. A. McKellar, astronomer at the observatory.

However, Dr. McKellar said, as this was only a partial eclipse and it would have to be a total eclipse to be of much interest to astronomers, missing the sight did not constitute a great loss to observatory officials.

Had the weather been clear, Victorians would have been able to get their first glimpse of the phenomenon, the fourth this year, at 7.44. The maximum eclipse, at its greatest was only 15 per cent in this area, and occurred at 8.15. The partial eclipse continued until 8.58, having started at the top left section of the sun and gone across to the right side until it vanished.

In eastern Canada, observers were able to see an 80 per cent eclipse.

B.C. To Overhaul Land-Clearing Plan

Complete overhaul of the B.C. government's land clearing program, authorized in 1945 and instituted last summer, was indicated by Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam today who said it was hoped sufficient additional machinery will be available by next summer to provide eight balanced outfits to go into operation.

Mr. Putnam said it had been established that the best results were obtained when two or three land clearing units were grouped together into an outfit under the supervision of a competent foreman. It was the aim of the department to do this in the future, placing the outfits in those sections of the province which require the aid most urgently.

"In spite of the difficulty in establishing units, and the usual delays which are to be expected when a new policy is being initiated, almost 150 farmers have had work done for them in the period ending Oct. 31 last," Mr. Putnam said. "The cost of clearing varies considerably from one section of the province to another, with a low of $15 per acre at Vanderhoof and the North Thompson, to a high of $75 an acre as the approximate average price for clearing on the Saanich Peninsula on Vancouver Island."

In central British Columbia, one farmer's organization has indicated that in its opinion this was the finest effort ever made by the government of this province to assist farmers in that area, said Mr. Putnam.

Nearly 100 school children of the View Royal district were given a holiday from school Friday when the school bus broke down. A few of the children managed to obtain other transportation, but the majority happily remained home. They attend Victoria West, Lamson Street and Esquimalt High Schools.

Pleads Guilty To Assaulting Officer

James Ross pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of assaulting a police officer while in the execution of his duties on Nov. 19 and was remanded until Tuesday for sentence by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

Constable James Baxter of the city police force testified he was on his way home when he saw Ross in a Douglas Street cigar store. He said he identified himself as an officer and told Ross he was wanted at the police station for questioning.

Ross, he said, took a beer bottle from his right hip pocket and swung at him. He warned the blow off with his arm and took the bottle away from the accused. Then, he said, Ross took another beer bottle from his left hip pocket and went to attack him. In an ensuing struggle, Ross, he said, kicked him in the left temple.

Seed First To File Nomination Papers

Activity is stirring on the civic election front, today B. F. Seed, labor candidate for alderman, was the first to file his nomination papers with returning officer M. F. Hunter.

Mr. Seed has the endorsement of both A.F. of L. and C.C.L. unions in the city and is being sponsored by the I.W.A.

A public meeting will be held Tuesday evening, at which Mr. Seed and Harold Pritchett will speak on Victoria's civic elections. Mr. Seed said the main plank of his platform is public ownership of the transportation system.

Prosecute Non-Payers Of Road And Poll Tax

Prosecutions for non-payment of 1946 road and poll tax are being instituted by the city tax department, T. G. Harris, road and poll tax collector, said today, and first prosecutions will come before the police court Tuesday.

At that time three people will appear, and others are pending. Mr. Harris warned. He estimated started they are liable not only liable for the road and poll tax, but failed to pay and unless they pay before prosecution is started the year liable not only for the tax but court costs as well, he warned.

Youth, 18, Sought For N. Vancouver Murder, Surrenders

VANCOUVER (CP) — The nine-day hunt for 18-year-old Donald Russell of North Vancouver, sought for the slaying of Robert F. Tepoorten, ended early this morning with his capture in a west end Vancouver hotel by city police.

A murder warrant had been issued last Tuesday for Russell in connection with the shotgun slaying of the 39-year-old North Arm handyman on Nov. 14. Russell, who offered no resistance, was taken into custody by Det. Sgt. Dave Richardson and Det. James Mundie of the local police at the hotel where he had been staying for about a week.

Sgt. Richardson said the youth carried no weapons and "was as quiet as a boy could be." He said Russell had only one cent in his pocket and was obviously half-starved. He was later turned over to North Vancouver Provincial Police, who have charged him with murder.

REVEALED IDENTITY
Russell had registered at the hotel about a week ago as E. Deegan. On Friday he had been told to leave because he could no longer pay for his room. When a roomer told the proprietress of the hotel someone was snoring in a third-floor bathroom, investigation revealed it was Russell. Told by the proprietress that she was going to call the police, the youth replied "You might as well, I'm Donald Russell."

Mrs. Mackintosh, the unsuspecting hotel proprietress, said Russell had lived in the hotel, attended dances in a dance hall downstairs and had talked in a "well-mannered" way during his week's stay.

After declaring himself as the suspected killer, Russell made no attempt to escape but only asked for a smoke.

"There's two sides to the story," he told Mrs. Mackintosh.

Lowest Building Figures In Months

A drop in building in Greater Victoria was again evident this week as the building inspectors' departments of the four municipalities issued permits for the lowest value in building in the area for months.

In the entire area only 30 building permits were issued for a total value of $65,804.

In the city there were 16 permits for a value of $29,654. Of these two were for houses, the remainder for repairs and alterations to existing buildings.

In Saanich there were 12 permits issued for a value of $15,150, including three dwellings for a value of $13,900.

The dwelling permits were for a six-room house, $5,400 on Tindall Ave., a three-room $4,800 home on Vanalman Avenue, and a five-room $3,700 house on Haliburton Road.

One building permit was issued in Oak Bay for a $15,000 6-room house at 291 King George Terrace.

In Esquimalt one permit was issued to E. Sealy to build a $6,000 dwelling on Fraser Street.

Citizenship Week To Be Noted Here

Plans will be made in Victoria for the fitting observance of Canadian Citizenship Week, Jan. 5 to 11.

Friday Col. Charles A. Krug of the Department of the Secretary of State, Canadian Citizenship Branch, and F. Hurley, Provincial Secretary's office, called on Mayor Percy George to discuss the subject.

Col. Krug told the mayor that the Canadian Citizenship Act comes into effect Jan. 1, and it is planned to have fitting ceremonies in every community in Canada. The co-operation of Mayor George was asked in the matter.

It was suggested that a citizens' committee, representing schools, youth organizations, service clubs, and other groups be appointed to discuss the ceremonies and activities with the government representatives.

Mayor George said he would co-operate fully, and it is expected that a committee will be appointed next week.

E. C. Warren To Seek Saanich Reeveship

E. C. Warren, who was reeve of Saanich from 1941 to 1945, inclusive, will seek election to that office again in the December elections, it was announced today.

A property owner and resident Saanich for 33 years Mr. Warren has been in business for 25 years in Saanich. He was a member of the Saanich council for 13 consecutive years and during that time held the dual office of school trustee and councillor for Ward 2.

In a statement today, Mr. Warren said he had decided to contest the reeveship "in response to so many requests from ratepayers," adding that he had plenty of experience behind him in the administration of municipal affairs.

"My policy," he said, "has been Saanich first and, if elected, this will continue to be my policy."

Delayed Brides May Sail Dec. 3

LONDON (CP)—Canada-bound servicemen's dependents who disembarked from the liner Empire Brent after a collision Wednesday morning at Liverpool, probably will re-embark Dec. 3 and sail for Halifax the following day, they have been told.

The delay was caused when the Empire Brent, formerly the hospital ship Letitia, rammed the cattle ship Stormont in the fog-shrouded Mersey River. No one was injured in the accident, although the Stormont later capsized. The Empire Brent, with her bow damaged, was taken to drydock for repairs. The 900 wives and children bound for Canada were told of the new plans by Lt. Col. V. N. Gill, who visited two London hostels where the women and children are billeted.

Phil Palmer's Ring Loss Draws Boos

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Johnny Suarez, 140, of Portland, gained a decision over Phil Palmer, 142, of Vancouver, in 10 bruising rounds of the main event of a boxing card here Friday night.

The crowd thought referee Packy McFarland's decision was wrong and spent 10 minutes after the bout telling him about it.

The Associated Press scorecard showed six rounds even, two for Palmer and two for Suarez, including one round given Suarez because of an unintentional low blow. It would have been a popular draw.

Private Talks Held To Settle Argument On Troop Inventory

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Private consultations got under way today in efforts to bring together the Big Five Powers on world troop inventory and disarmament proposals before the United Nations.

A U.S. spokesman said his delegation already had started discussions with Russia, Britain, France and China in a surprise move to reconcile the Soviet and British viewpoints.

The spokesman emphasized the sessions were to be information discussions. The meetings are expected to continue until Monday.

Top level diplomats such as Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia, and Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain are not participating in the talks, but will be represented by their aides.

An American move in requesting and obtaining a 48-hour postponement of discussions before the 54-member Political Committee in favor of the private sessions caught delegates generally by surprise and created obvious disappointment within the British delegation, which had felt assured of U.S. support against a Soviet proposal to discuss the two issues separately.

Yugoslavia Repeats Charges Of Greeks' Violation of Air

BELGRADE (CP)—The Yugoslav Government today sent a second sharp note to Greece protesting continued violations of the frontier by Greek planes, it was announced today.

Earlier today, Foreign Minister Stanoj Simic had addressed a strong protest to the Greek minister here against alleged violation of Yugoslav territorial right by Greek fighter planes and a Greek bomber during the last three days.

Premier Constantin Tsaldaris of Greece said in Athens earlier that no protest had been received from Yugoslavia over the alleged violations.

An official statement attributed the trouble in northern Greece to "5,000 former E.L.A.S. (left-wing resistance movement) supporters trained in a Yugoslav camp."

Tsaldaris said today no protest had been received from Yugoslavia over alleged violations of the Yugoslav frontier in Macedonia by Greek fighter planes. The Yugoslav news agency, in a Belgrade dispatch, gave a long list of alleged violations of the frontier in the last three days and said Yugoslavia had made an official protest.

Floods In England Subsiding Today

BARNESLEY, Eng. (CP)—Floods in England were subsiding today, but at this northern city, 40 families spent the night in a local school after their homes had been inundated.

Gale warnings still were in effect in all coastal waters as the danger of 10-day long rains continued. Heavy seas again caused the cancellation of Channel steamship service between Dover and Calais.

Friday night a six-foot wall of water swept through Barnesley, trapping more than 500 families in bedrooms.

New Restrictions On Greek Press

ATHENS (AP)—The Greek government's press bill, which provides for prison sentences, of journalists for their work and confiscation of newspapers for "press offences," was passed by parliament early today after an all-night session.

The bill was drafted after an attempt by two newspapers to publish the text of a communique from the "headquarters of the democratic forces in northern Greece."

Fight In Indo-China
HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—French sources reported today that an outbreak of fighting between French and Viet Nam forces had occurred at Langson Friday, just south of the Chinese border, in which 11 Frenchmen were killed and eight wounded. The sources said the French took control of the entire town after two hours of fighting.
